DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fiesel et al. (6,752,115). Fiesel et al. discloses an Intake manifold or distributor for an air feed circuit for an internal- combustion engine comprising, on the one hand, an intake or plenum chamber of elongate shape and provided at one of its longitudinal ends with an intake aperture and, on the other hand, at least two pipes laterally connected to said chamber, said pipes extending at least partially around said intake chamber from their inlet apertures opening therein and having a curved structure over at least a portion of their length; the manifold being wherein it consists of two parts produced by injection moulding of thermoplastic material and joined to one another in the region of peripheral joint zones located on a joining surface crossing said manifold, a first part in one piece forming, a first longitudinal portion of the casing defining the intake chamber , an intermediate portion of a side portion of the wall of each of the various pipes and an end conduit segment of each of said pipes ending in the outlet aperture of each of them, and a second part in one piece forming a second complementary longitudinal portion of the casing defining the intake chamber an end conduit segment of each of said pipes ending with the inlet aperture of each of these pipes opening into the intake chamber and a complementary intermediate portion of a side portion of the wall of each of the pipes. See Figure 4.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed February 22, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicants invention must be structurally different from the prior art. The prior art, Fiesel, broadly shows the part formed in one piece with end conduit segments of each of the pipes ending with and forming an entirety of the inlet aperture, each of the pipes opening into the intake chamber.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. U.S. Patent No. 4,301,775 issued to Smart et al. is a similar invention.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
